

Thrive^{ftc}-Online

An intuitive and easy to use programme that underpins the Thrive^{ftc} Approach to working with children and young people

Thrive Online is the assessment tool and extensive activity planning resource that helps teachers, parents, social workers, teaching assistants and others working with children to identify the underlying emotional needs that drive their differing and sometimes challenging behaviours. In a school setting, ThriveOnline can be used to

- Screen a whole class of children to identify their emotional and social skills against their age appropriate developmental stage (new to V4 of Thrive-Online)
- Assess and support an individual child whose behaviour or achievement is causing concern
- Chart the progress of an individual child

The programme comprises:

- An online assessment tool to help with the early identification of children's social and emotional developmental needs.
- An extensive online activity and action planning resource. The activities, based in the arts and creativity, are tailored to the child's needs and fostered by the creation of positive relationships with the child. They are effective and easy to implement and they provide a shared approach for educationalists, parents, social workers, psychotherapists and others supporting the child.
- A review and reassessment process.

Action plans are updated at intervals to incorporate additional strategies and subsequent reassessments will show the progress that has been made. The goal is to bring the child to a development stage commensurate with their age. The cycle of assessment, action planning and reassessment can be repeated as many times as necessary.
