How to make a request for support

Access the service via www.s2ssupport.co.uk

Within the application form give information about strategies and interventions already used and evidence of outcomes.

Once received, your request will be reviewed.

If your request is unsuccessful, other support will be offered wherever possible.

If your request is approved, an S2S specialist will contact you to arrange an initial visit. At the initial visit, the S2S specialist will make an assessment and recommendations for a programme of support.

The observations and recommendations report will be provided to you after the visit.

There is an expectation that any strategies and / or interventions suggested by S2S will be implemented and embedded into daily practice. The impact of the support should also be carefully monitored and recorded.

Once the support has been delivered, you will have the chance to evaluate the service and provide feedback. We review all feedback and respond if required.
