

Dragon Festival Education Pack

The exciting Dragon Festival Education Pack, which has been created as part of the 2011 Norwich Dragon Festival by Norwich Heritage Economic and Regeneration Trust (HEART) and partners, is now available hard-copy and online.

The pack – which has received excellent feedback from teachers - contains lots of ideas for lessons from education providers across Norwich. The lessons - all of which are all linked to the Key Stage 1, 2 and 3 National Curriculum - can be tailored to suit the needs of all students, and the vast majority of activities can be done at venues, as well as in school.

Lessons have been provided by Cinema City, Culture Crossroads, Dragon Hall, HEART, Hungate Medieval Art, Inspire Discovery Centre, Norfolk and Norwich Millennium Library, Norfolk Record Office, Norwich Castle, Sainsbury Centre for Visual Arts and the University of East Anglia.

If you would like to order a hard copy of the pack, please contact Sophie Cabot at education@heritagecity.org.

Although the pack is free, please be aware that, as HEART is a charity with limited funding, we are charging £4.75 for P&P. However, there is no P&P charge if you are able to collect the pack from HEART's offices at The Guildhall (Gaol Hill, Norwich, NR2 1JS), between 9.15am and 4.30pm Monday-Friday.

If you would like to collect a copy, please contact the office on 01603 305 575 to arrange a collection time/date.

If you would prefer to download a free copy from the internet, please visit: <http://www.heritagecity.org/projects/norwich-dragon-festival-2011/dragon-festival-education-pack.htm>.

We hope you find the pack interesting and engaging, with lots of useful ideas for taking the Dragon Festival into the classroom.
