This is your newsletter

Let us know what you would like to see mentioned in the newsletter, or send us your comments on things you have found helpful or not. Write, email, phone or fax us.

Our volunteers are in great demand. If you feel you would like to help other parents, do look at our next training course on the notice board page or ring us for a chat.

Also, if you know of any support groups that have been really helpful, tell us and we will pass the information on to other parents.

We are here to help you.

Can we help you?

Do you have concerns about your child's education?

We are here to support and advise you. Just give us a call or email us and we will be happy to see how we can help. We are a friendly team—Sarah and Janina, Partnership Officers, Jennie, Parent Adviser and Elizabeth, Admin. We are all here to answer any of your educational questions, and give you advice and support.

Sarah Janina Jennie Elizabeth

There are booklets on our website which explain the Statutory Assessment process, how you can help your child at school, finding a school and lots more, including a jargon buster. Just log on and download the booklets that interest you, or ring us and we will send you a copy.

Also look at our website for more information about us and other useful contacts.

If you already know about us then pass our information onto a friend.

Norfolk Parent Partnership also produce parent friendly booklets on some of the above subjects, which can be downloaded FREE from: www.norfolkparentpartnership.org.uk

Family Study of Autism at the Open University with the Autism Research Centre of Cambridge University

To take part in this research, we need you to be the biological parent of a child with a formal autism spectrum diagnosis. Your child must be between 6 and 18 years old and have at least one biological sibling, with or without an autism spectrum diagnosis.

The Open University

The purpose of this research is to examine to what extent children with autism resemble their parents on a series of tasks. This study may give us important insights about which characteristics are shared between parents and children and which features are not.

If you and your child are interested in participating, then please contact Edward Sucksmith directly on 01223 746030 or by email: es504@medschl.cam.ac.uk

What is an IEP? (Individual Education Plan)

Children learn at different rates. If your child has been given different work to the other children and they are still not managing as well as they should, they could be given an IEP.

This may be for many reasons depending on your child's needs. It can be anything that effects their learning, including behaviour or communication difficulties.

If your child has an IEP and has extra or different help this is called School Action. The teacher will talk with you about what action is needed and will be working with the school SENCO (Special Educational Needs Co-ordinator).

Targets in the IEP should be S M A R T:

- ♦ Specific, say exactly what is expected
- ♦ Measurable, easy to see if it has been achieved
- ♦ Achievable, a small step that the child can manage
- ♦ Relevant, is it the right target for that child?
- ♦ Time bound, say when the IEP will be reviewed

The IEP will include information about:

- ♦ 3 to 5 short term targets
- ♦ How these will be taught
- ♦ Any additional support or equipment

The IEP should be reviewed at least twice a year but ideally every term. Both you and your child should be involved in setting targets. Your child's views should always be considered.

If your child makes progress they may no longer need the extra support of an IEP. If they need more support than at School Action they can get extra help at School Action Plus. Advice is then asked from other professionals outside school. New targets will be written from this advice. Your child's progress will continue to be assessed.

If you have any questions about IEPs or your child's education call our helpline: 01603 704070.

Infant Scientists Wanted!

Are you pregnant, or do you have a baby between the ages of 0 - 9 months who has an older brother or sister with autism?

The British Autism Study of Infant Siblings (BASIS) is a UK wide network of researchers. Our aim is to learn more about the early development of baby brothers and sisters of children with autism. We hope our studies will in the long term help to improve early detection and diagnosis of children with autism. If you are pregnant, or have a baby between the ages of 0 - 9 months who has a full sibling diagnosed with an autism spectrum disorder, please contact us for more details. Travel costs to central London (WC1) are reimbursed and special arrangements are made for families who live further away.

The Role of the School Nurse

Norfolk Community Health and Care
NHS Trust

School Nurses support young people in high schools by arranging drop ins at the school. Young people can self-refer to these or attend by appointment on the request of either a parent or teacher.

Support and advice is given on a range of issues:

- ♦ sexual health
- ♦ emotional health
- ♦ wellbeing
- ♦ self harming
- ♦ mental health
- ♦ weight issues
- ♦ relationships etc.

School Nurses can refer to other professionals (e.g. mental health teams) as required. They are trained to provide young people with condoms (within strict protocols) and can provide the Chlamydia testing kits.

Sessions are usually confidential but where necessary and with the consent of the young person, the School Nurse will work with parents, carers and other professionals to support the young person with their needs.

The nurses also have links with Children's Services teams and other professionals in cases where children are at risk of harm or are vulnerable and need support from other professionals.

If you would like to speak to the school nurse or make an appointment, contact your school to find out about the drop-in sessions or to make an appointment.
