

Could your school use £500 worth of gardening products?

Q Lawns Turf Growers, Holly Landscapes of Downham Market and KLFM Radio are on a mission to Green Up West Norfolk and are giving away £500 worth of Q Lawns products to help your local community project succeed.

If your school has a gardening club or is thinking of creating a wildlife garden, this could be a brilliant way of getting your hands on £500 worth of Wild Flower Mat, lawn turf, woodchip mulch, topsoil and green roofing materials – or a combination of products to suit your project.

For a chance of winning, simply encourage everyone you know – staff, parents, grandparents, friends and family, local communities etc to visit the KLFM website at <http://www.klfm967.co.uk/features/>, fill in the form and nominate your project to Green Up West Norfolk. The project with the most nominations by the end of summer term will win the prize and each person who registers their details will receive a gift from Q Lawns.

For more information about the competition, please contact Angela Lambert on 01842 828266 or e-mail sales@qlawns.co.uk
