

The Graeae Theatre Company Presents:

By Ted Hughes and adapted by Paul Sirett

Graeae is a disabled-led theatre company that profiles the skills of actors, writers and directors with physical and sensory impairments.

The company will be presenting the world premiere of its production of The Iron Man at NNF11 on 12-13 May.

In addition it is offering Special Schools in Norfolk the opportunity to attend workshops with the company on 10 and 11 May.

Cost range between £150-£300 plus VAT. (Depending on full or ½ day option)

The workshops can be held at schools and will focus on exploring the different elements of The Iron Man – from the sound design, puppets, sign language, audio description and script.

There is a free schools performance of The Iron Man on Millennium Plain on Friday 13 May at 1.30pm.
