

Visit Ipswich Museum after dark!

Torchlight Tours

Ipswich Museum

Friday 13th May and Saturday 14th May

You've seen it during the day; now see how Ipswich Museum comes to life - at night!

Join us for an exciting opportunity on either Friday 13th or Saturday 14th of May to explore for yourself what the museum galleries look like by torchlight.

Discover new things or perhaps even things you've seen before, but in a new way as you journey through the Museum after dark, lead by a one of our friendly guides. This event is sure to be fun for all, so why not bring your friends and family along for a unique look into the past.

Laura Hardisty, Marketing Officer at Colchester and Ipswich Museums said, "This is a unique opportunity to see the museum after dark in a completely different light, depending on where you point your torch! These events have been enormously successful with young and old who want to explore the museum in a completely different way."

These Torchlight Tours are being held as part of the 'Museums at Night Initiative'; which is a national campaign for late night opening which capture's people's imaginations and encourages audiences to do something rather different with their evening ahead.

The tours are on Friday 13th of May and Saturday 14th of May, and begin at 5:30pm, 6:30pm or 7:30pm at the Ipswich Museum. At the small cost of £4.50 per adult and £3 per child (children must be aged 8+).

These tours are extremely popular so please make sure you book your place by either calling us on 01473 433691 or by dropping into Christchurch Mansion, Ipswich. But hurry, places are limited!!
