Those Magnificent Men Wed. 12th Oct at 7.30pm

By Brian Mitchell & Joseph Nixon. Starring Richard Earl

Chocks Away! for the hilarious story of Alcock and Brown and the first ever non-stop transatlantic flight. A classic tale of plucky British pioneers huddled together against the elements in the tiny cockpit of their converted Vickers Vimy bi-plane, made almost entirely of wood and canvas - talk about winging it! Thrill to the sheer adventuring spirit of our unlikely heroes, marvel at their daredevil aerial antics, and wonder at how the whole bally thing is told with just two actors and a crate full of funny props.

Tickets £5      Under 16's £2.50

Nigel "Boy" Syer and friends Sat. 15th Oct at 7.30pm

Together making an evening of music and fun!

Nigel 'Boy' Syer – Norfolk's funniest accordionist. Just watching him lean on his squeeze box, "spinning a yarn" as relaxed as if it were a country gate post, he slowly brings the audience into his strange and hilarious world. A unique entertainment experience. Sit back, relax and enjoy Nigel 'Boy' Syer.

Steve Ace has worked on and off with Nigel for 20 years. They are able to do this because of the difference in their humour... They laugh at the same jokes... but their acts never clash. Steve uses his long time skill of magic to bring the audience to life and works with Nigel in the long running summer show at the Gorleston pavilion. "Believe me" says Steve, "There are just as many laughs off stage as there are on!"

Lisa Marie, defined in two words; simply superb. With many years summer season experience in Great Yarmouth, and on tour in large stage shows, just listen to discover what makes Lisa the success she is. A wonderful vocal talent and tonight, just for you, she will be performing her tribute to Karen Carpenter. A real treat!

Artist in residence opportunity at Lime Arts, Manchester.

We are seeking two artists for a short term experimental residency project. This is a 'paired residency' scheme whereby each artist will work with a similar hospital department but in two hospitals, one in Bolton and one in Manchester. The residencies will run in parallel and outcomes will be shared. Knowledge of the local area may be beneficial. This is a unique opportunity for the artists to develop a project that explores creative connections with hospital staff. We are looking for artists interested in observing and creatively interpreting a busy working hospital department environment.

The artist will be commissioned to work for 1-2 days a week over 3 months, November 2011 to February 2012. An expected outcome of the commission will be the creation of work to be displayed in the two hospitals. All art forms will be considered but a strong lasting visual outcome is required.

We are especially interested to hear from artists of Black or Minority Ethnic backgrounds.

Fee for each artist: £3,000 (including materials costs)

Application Deadline: Tuesday 11th October

Interview date: TBC

Start Date: Week of 7th November

There is no formal application pack. Please send your letter of application in no more than 800 words and your CV to brian@limeart.org . Please include an explanation of how you might approach this and how you feel that the project would develop your artistic practice. Attach no more than 8 images/files representing your work.

The successful artist will be required to have Public Liability Insurance, and a current CRB check.

Young Leaders to Run New Flagship Programmes (England)

Teamv - coordinated by v, NIACE, Charities Aid Foundation and The Rank Foundation - is recruiting inspirational young people aged 18-25 to run three flagship projects, in which they will coordinate volunteers to work with them in tackling key social issues in local communities across England. ### Government Launches Innovation in Giving Fund (England)

The Government has announced a new £10million fund to find and back innovative new ideas for increasing volunteering and charitable giving. Organisations such as charities, social entrepreneurs, faith groups, businesses, academia, public services or other organisations can apply for grants of up to £50,000. The Innovation in Giving Fund breaks away from traditional government support to focus on new technologies and networks that can make it easier and more attractive for people to help each other.

Social innovators have already established initiatives such as Freecycle, which links people who have things they want to get rid of with people who can use them and JustGiving, which allows people to sponsor friends online. The Government wants to help more ideas like these get off the ground so people can unleash untapped community spirit, and even get something in return.

There are two parts to the Fund – Game Changing Innovations and Local Platforms:

- Game Changing Innovations: This part of the Fund will focus on innovations that demonstrate the potential to have national impact at significant scale. NESTA expect to make first stage grants of up to £50,000 to approximately twenty organisations to back game changing innovations in this first round. Recipients of these first round grants will have the opportunity to secure further stages of funding, with additional awards to be made from spring 2012.
- Local Platforms: This part of the Fund will focus on spreading and growing proven or promising local platforms for giving and exchange. That means we are looking for innovations that already have some track record of impact and which can be scaled, replicated or adapted to increase that impact, including through reaching new geographical areas, communities, issues or contexts. NESTA expect to make grants of between £50,000 and £150,000 to approximately 15 organisations.

The Innovation in Giving Fund will be managed by the National Endowment for Science Technology and the Arts (NESTA). They are asking applicants to submit a short video elevator pitch alongside their application form, the best will then be invited to present to a panel for the final decision. The deadline for applications is the 14th October 2011 and videos will be published publicly. For more information visit:
