CAN WE EVER
JUSTIFY WAR?

You’ll be learning a little quantum physics, and how nothing is the way you think it is. You’ll also find out why it’s important to know. You’ll complete your own small investigation into something and get to prove it’s not correct. You’ll also get the chance to have an ethical discussion and how ethics are applied to real world situations, like trying to justify war or euthanasia.

The Development Gap

IS TRADE FAIR?

This will provide you with the chance to explore the unequal world in which you live and the attempts to improve the quality of life of people, in some of the very poorest parts of the world. The session will consider the varying levels of development across the world and the ways in which we can measure development. You will have the opportunity to work in groups, discuss, play games and research and present your ideas.
