Developing Playtimes and Lunchtimes

The revised Ofsted framework looks at pupil's 'typical' behaviour and safety across the whole school. With this in mind, the contribution that well-managed playtimes and lunchtimes can make to developing and enhancing children's positive attitudes towards themselves and others is crucial. This course looks at both the role of adults and children in developing effective, fun and respectful playtimes and lunchtimes for all.

What will I get out of it?

- Consider how children can be supported to contribute to and take responsibility for playground and lunchtime cultures.
- Develop staff skills in relation to positive facilitation and management of lunchtimes.
- Examine playtime and lunchtime policy.
- Develop approaches to effectively monitor and review playtime and lunchtime practices.
