

Developing writing

...the key to raising standards

Learn from the very best

Professor Debra Myhill and Helen Lines of Exeter University are well known and respected for their work on the teaching of writing - and in particular on the role of grammar in the secondary curriculum.

Simon Wrigley

is a former Chair of the National Association for the Teaching of English and the founder of the Association's successful Writing Project.

Dale Banham

was formerly a Humanities Adviser in Suffolk. Now a Deputy Head in Ipswich, he is a published author of text books and has a particular interest in developing literacy and thinking skills in humanities.
