This full day course is designed to enable high-quality leadership and management to make e-safety a priority in your school.

As part of the day, full CEOP Think You Know Training will be provided, including certification.

Due to the nature of the work discussed at the event each delegate must be able to produce the following documentation to the Ambassador (course leader) prior to the training commencing, in order to attend the Thinkuknow Introduction course:

- A clean Enhanced CRB or equivalent (e.g. Disclosure Scotland, AccessNI) issued within the last three years (or national equivalent) or police warrant card
- Photographic ID i.e. passport, driving licence, work ID to check the name on the CRB against

If the CRB was not issued within the last three years then you need to bring your CRB and a letter from your organisation on letter headed paper, signed by a senior manager, stating the following:

‘This is to confirm that we have undertaken necessary risk assessment of [\[Insert Delegate Name\]](#) and are satisfied that they are suitable to work with children and young people/in the children’s workforce’
