Core Middle Leadership Programme

‘A programme to develop highly effective subject leaders of English and mathematics in secondary schools’

What does it take to be a highly effective subject leader? This four session course covers essential skills such as improving the quality of teaching, preparing for Ofsted, data analysis and personnel management.

Ofsted says that in an ‘outstanding’ school:

- All leaders and managers . . . base their actions on a deep and accurate understanding of . . . performance, and of staff and pupils’ skills and attributes
- The . . . curriculum promotes and sustains a thirst for knowledge and a love of learning
- There are excellent policies underpinning practice
- Leaders focus relentlessly on improving teaching and learning and provide focussed professional development for all staff, especially those that are newly qualified and at an early stage of their careers.

The sessions combine generic leadership topics with subject- specific aspects.

Session 1: Effective systems and processes

Session 2: Using data effectively

Session 3: Leading teaching and learning
