Isolated EAL learners in EYFS and the primary phase

How to support students for whom English is an additional language (EAL) when they are relatively few in number.

Aimed to meet the needs of primary schools and EYFS settings which have low numbers of pupils for whom English is an additional language, this course will explore and develop a range of induction approaches to help students and families settle more quickly into the new school environment. The principles of effective teaching which includes and supports potentially isolated EAL students will be introduced - with a particular emphasis on literacy.
