

Matthew Bourne's NEW ADVENTURES has produced some of the most successful dance theatre productions and now the company will bring to stage a thrilling new dance production of William Golding's classic novel Lord of the Flies and you, or someone you know, can get involved!

Young men aged 10 - 25 years, many of whom who have never danced before, are being offered this rare opportunity to work together with professional dancers in this distinctive collaboration.

Our local dance ambassadors are searching for participants across the region to take part in LOTF physical workshops from May - August 2014. Auditions are being held at the end of September, with rehearsals in October and performances mid November 2014.

The action is transferred from deserted island to deserted theatre. A group of schoolboys find themselves abandoned. With no adults around they start to make their own rules and create their own civilisation, before order breaks down and the story builds to an electrifying climax.

Are you interested or know someone who is?

No previous dance experience is necessary, sessions are taught at an open level. All you need is a passion to learn something new!
