

The way we're organised

The Education Strategy and Commissioning section includes nine services dedicated to supporting and challenging education improvement.

The Education Achievement Service monitors the quality of education being provided in each school and also assesses the risk of each school providing a less than good standard of education.

The Education Intervention and Inspection Service provides statutory and informal intervention for schools causing concern (SCC). District Intervention Officers oversee the performance of schools causing concern, monitor progress and determine, with the Head of Service, where formal intervention is required.

The Education Exclusion Service sets the strategy for attendance, exclusions and related areas. It also provides direction in promoting safeguarding and education for vulnerable groups.

The Education Partnership Service builds relationships with all education providers and facilitates arrangements for school collaboration. This service works with schools as they consider and adopt new structural solutions such as federation, sponsored or converter Academy status. The service works closely with the Pupil Place Planning and Organisation Service that coordinates the practical place planning and capital aspects of education planning and organisation to contribute to education improvement.

Norfolk Integrated Education Advisory Services (NIEAS) works as part of Norfolk's wider offer of traded Services for Schools (S4S) and is commissioned by schools to provide school improvement services as required. Where a school is causing concern, the commissioning of services is with the advice of the Intervention Officer. Norfolk to Good and Great is the specific programme that enables schools 'requiring improvement' to seize opportunities for rapid self-improvement. Across Education Strategy and Commissioning, Associate Staff are engaged to support or deliver specific areas of school improvement work. Details of registered Associates are held by NIEAS

The Admissions Service manages the coordinated admissions system providing an education place for each child.

The Employment and Skills Service links the work of education providers with the needs of businesses and the economy.

The Norfolk Education Challenge Board (NECB) holds to account the education system for meeting the aspiration to provide 'A Good School for Every Norfolk Learner'. The Board is independently chaired by Professor David Woods CBE and reflects the strong partnership between the Local Authority, Headteacher and Governor Associations, the Teaching Schools and Academy Sponsors.

Education Strategy and Commissioning

The Education section of Norfolk County Council's Children's Services ensures Norfolk's children and young people benefit from the highest possible standards of education and training. We work on behalf of all children and young people in Norfolk up to age 19 and up to 25 where a young person has a learning difficulty and/or disability and/or is looked after.

This is a pre-requisite for achieving our overall hope for young people in Norfolk, which is "We believe that all Children and Young People have the right to be healthy, happy and safe, to be loved, valued and respected, and have high aspirations for their future."

Schools have responsibility for their own improvement but Norfolk County Council (NCC) is determined that robust and effective support and challenge is sought and available for all of Norfolk's publicly funded education institutions attended by Norfolk children and young people. This reflects the role of the Local Authority (LA) acting as 'champion for all children and families'. It also chimes with current practice among Local Authorities where a sharp focus is upon:

- securing high educational standards
- ensuring the availability of a good school place for every child and
- safeguarding the more vulnerable by closing the 'achievement gap'.

Norfolk County Council (NCC) undertakes these roles because it is

- the champion all Norfolk children and families
- the democratic and impartial convener of partnerships that will most benefit Norfolk's children and families and
- the commissioner of high quality services.

To this end, a wide range of strategic partnerships – with Headteachers, Governors and their associations, with Academy groups, the three Dioceses and the Teaching School Alliances, with Ofsted and school inspectors, with other Local Authorities, with teacher unions – exist in order to set the context within which Norfolk education will improve and flourish.

Norfolk County Council is determined a good school place for every child is the shared aspiration of all partners in the education system. The Council's policy on support and challenge for school improvement is set out in a series of pamphlets known as 'A Good School for Every Norfolk Learner' available at www.schools.norfolk.gov.uk/agoodschoolforeverynorfolklearner
