Outstanding English Programme for Primary Teachers

Raise the quality of English and literacy teaching to be consistently excellent.

Learning from Ofsted publications and focusing on subject knowledge and pedagogy, this programme will support teachers who have the potential to be outstanding.

Delegates will have the opportunity to draw upon research and initiatives in English to consider what best practice looks like in primary English, including the place of grammar in writing and in response to texts.

They will explore how to develop learners' engagement and creativity through making use of innovative and imaginative resources, including quality first texts, as well as considering how to develop high levels of functional literacy.
