

To celebrate 'Elf the Musical' supporting the Alzheimer's Society, we are urging schools, workplaces, families and friends to get into the festive spirit on 16th December, or another day in December, and organise an Elf Day.

'Elf the Musical', which will go on stage in London in November, is supporting the Alzheimer's Society and we are hoping that schools will want to get involved in this very seasonal event by holding an 'Elf Day' for their school whereby children (and teachers) could dress up as Elves for the day. There are packs the Alzheimer's Society will send electronically to schools, which include face masks which the children can colour in, quizzes, posters and leaflets. For more information and to request a fundraising pack, please go to www.alzheimers.org.uk/site/scripts/documents_info.php?documentID=3101.

We are hoping as many schools as possible will join in and contribute a donation to the Alzheimer's Society. Request a fundraising pack early, so you can allocate a day for this activity. This very timely, seasonal initiative should be great fun for everyone involved!
