YORKSHIRE

DIG - AN ARCHAEOLOGICAL ADVENTURE

Location: York - City Centre

DIG in for the Ultimate Live Archeological Experience

New - DIG Live! Opens June 20th and runs through to September 9th. This summer, for a limited period only, visitors to DIG, the exciting new archaeological adventure attraction in York, will have the opportunity to get closer than ever before to a real archaeological experience, thanks to DIG Live!

Launched in March 2006, DIG combines hands-on archaeological techniques with the latest 3D audiovisual experiences, to create an interactive exploration through York's past that is proving popular with people of all ages. And now, with summer attraction DIG Live!, the archaeologists of the York Archaeological Trust have gone one step further in their quest to make archaeology fun and accessible to all.

Visitors will be invited to witness history in the making as a team of archaeologists, field experts and enthusiasts take part in a dig to excavate a brand new site, carefully chosen for a training excavation, as the quest continues to uncover more of York's hidden past.

DIG also includes activities, demonstrations and presentations that can be tailor made to the audience's ability. School group activities cater for pupils from KS1 to KS4 with cross-curricular links in history and science plus key elements of English, maths, geography, citizenship and art and design.

In addition, bespoke educational packages are offered for KS4 and NVQ Travel & Tourism and Heritage Management.

DIG builds on the experience and knowledge of York Archaeological Trust and offers an important new centre for learning in York.

LONDON

BRITAIN AT WAR EXPERIENCE

Location: Tooley Street, London SE1

See It! Feel It! Breathe It!

Every weekend a quiz is available for children to complete as they learn about civilian life in war-torn Britain during the Second World War.

Descend in a lift to the London underground and see how thousands of people spent sleepless nights. Just as they watched films there, see the interesting and often poignant film footage from that dramatic era. Visit the BBC radio studio, look in the dressing room of the war-time stars and then take refuge in the Anderson shelter and hear the bombs overhead.

Read documents and see artefacts from the period and learn about rationing, women at war, evacuation, wartime weddings, bomb disposal and the blackout. Children can try on gasmasks and uniforms (bring your camera) and see what it was like to sleep under a Morrison shelter. End your visit in the London street in the Blitz just after a bomb has dropped.

Education service available for school groups.

Close to London Bridge Station at 64/66 Tooley Street.
