

EYFS Lead Teacher Forum

This is an opportunity for lead teachers in Norfolk and beyond to meet to develop their professional understanding of pedagogy and to take part in debate that secures confidence in decision making for school improvement.

Course Outline

As EYFS lead in your school(s), you can feel isolated, whether you are working in a small or a larger school. This is an opportunity for those of you who are EYFS Lead Teachers to attend a regular forum that explores CPD needs and supports your reflective practice and decision making to drive school improvement forward from the EYFS.

As part of this training opportunity, we will meet in January and May at the PDC for a full day of training and debate and additionally we will meet for a twilight session at a school venue in March and June to discuss the improvements that you, as lead, have identified and initiated as a result.

Delegates will:

- further develop the key features of effective leadership in the EYFS
- use and analyse data and other monitoring information to lead improvement
- develop the confidence to get the best from all members of staff and the children
- further develop their monitoring cycle leading to more effective school improvement
- use research to further their understanding of effective pedagogy
- develop confidence and security in debating EYFS practice and relating this to practice in their school
