

SHERINGHAM PRIMARY NATIONAL TEACHING SCHOOL

DEVELOPING READER THROUGH INSPIRATION

'Reading can change your life, it can inform, motivate, inspire and elevate; but it must be reading that you do for yourself, at your own pace, in your own way, and that has a bearing on your own background, interest, values, beliefs and aspirations.'
Woods, 2001.

This half day course for class teachers of all phases provides:

- Practical ideas on how to create reading cultures in the classroom
- Inspire children to read for pleasure
- Develop children's skills as readers.

Previous delegates have rated this course as excellent and say:

'A really good course with relevant, useful information and ideas we can actually use in the classroom and school'

'Great advice on how to engage parents'

'Excellent knowledge and enthusiasm from Julie'

Julie Westrop

Julie has had 22 years in a very successful teaching and senior leadership career. Following this she has worked as a Senior School Adviser and School Improvement Partner. Julie has also worked as an Ofsted inspector for over 3 years.

Julie's most recent LA post has been as Norfolk LA's Senior Adviser with responsibility for Parents and Extended services. For this she led on the development of the Parent Support Adviser programme and provided training for early years and school staff, leadership teams and governors on developing effective partnership with families and the community, raising aspirations and the highly successful Reading Café programme.

Julie is a highly accomplished, engaging and inspiring trainer who has facilitated many hundreds of training sessions and been a regular speaker at numerous national events.
