

Inclusion in Action: Responding to Challenging Behaviour through Detailed Planning

Course Outline

A detailed and carefully constructed behaviour plan is a key factor in the successful turn-around of an individual pupil's behaviour.

This course is designed to help delegates consider the importance of recognising and planning for difficult and positive behaviours of individual pupils.

Delegates will consider where difficult behaviours may originate and how staff can best support pupils to move beyond these.

By the end of the course participants will:-

- Explore how plans can be used to lower the risk of difficult behaviours and improve pupil outcomes
- Identify the function of individual behaviour management planning within inclusive practices
- Understand that a successful plan will contain responses to both positive and challenging behaviour
- Know how to monitor the effectiveness of behaviour management planning
