Updated Information

Transition of Statements to Education, Health and Care Plans (EHCP)

The transition guidance for Local Authorities states that – 'By 1 April 2018, Local Authorities must have transferred all children and young people with statements of SEN to the new SEN and disability system who meet the criteria for an EHC plan. Local Authorities must conduct a Transfer Review – that is an EHC needs assessment in accordance with The Special Educational Needs and Disability Regulations 2014'

Many Local Authorities, including Norfolk are struggling to meet this deadline due to the high numbers of children with statements. It has just been confirmed by the Minister of State for Children and Families; Robert Goodwill MP, that this deadline will not be changing. He stated that any Statements that have not had a complete transfer will remain in force from 1st April 2018. If your child or young person has got a Statement of SEN, you might want to ask your EHCP co-ordinator when their transfer review /EHC needs assessment is likely to take place.

New Exclusion Guidance

The Department for Education (DfE) have published revised exclusions guidance which came into force in September 2017. The law concerning exclusions has not changed. You can download a copy of the new exclusions guidance from www.gov.uk/government/publications/school-exclusion.

This new guidance now includes a helpful annex for parent/carers but you still need to refer to the whole document and not rely on this annex alone.

FAQ Academies/Free schools

What is an Academy?

An Academy is an independent school which is not funded by or under the control of the Local Authority. They are typically companies and/or charitable trusts. There are also special academies which are special schools, where pupils usually have a Statement or an Education Health and Care Plan (EHCP).

Who are they responsible to?

Academies and Free schools will have a Funding Agreement, a contract with the Secretary of State for Education, currently Justine Greening. The agreement includes the rules for running the school and will differ between academies. Academies can operate independently but often they are run by Multi Academy Trusts, a group of academies working together. The Regional Schools Commissioner oversees the application process and the performance of academies.

What is the structure of oversight and decision making within the school?

This is typically a two tier system. Members, who make sure the charitable objectives are being upheld and below them Trustees, who carry out a role similar to Governors. Academies have more freedom to decide term dates, curriculum content and to manage their own finances.

Who funds them?

The Department of Education (DfE) through the Education Funding Agency (EFA).

What has to happen for a maintained primary or secondary school to change to an Academy?

To become an Academy/Free School the governing body has to agree to the conversion. A consultation must be held about whether the school should be converted to an Academy/Free school. Those being consulted must be given sufficient time to respond and the responses must be conscientiously considered.

The final decision is made by the schools governors.

Can the Funding Agreement be changed?

Yes, with agreement, also they can be overwritten (changed) by Acts of Parliament such as the Children and Families Act 2014 Part 3. This Act brought together mainstream schools, nurseries, academies and free schools in terms of how they have to support children and young people with SEND.

How are Academies monitored?

They are inspected by OFSTED and exam results are published by the Department for Education.

Can Academies select the pupils they take?

Academies must follow the same Code of Admissions as state-maintained schools, although the academy trust will manage the process. However, it is always a good starting point to check the particular Academy's Funding Agreement. Also see www.gov.uk/guidance/academy-admissions

Does an Academy or Free school need to put in place SEN Support/ the graduated approach?

Yes, The Children and Families Act 2014 compels Academies and Free schools to put in place the four part cycle of Assess, Plan, Do, and Review.

Can I request an Academy to be named in an EHCP?

Yes, the Local Authority can name but as with mainstream schools they will ask the school. The two reasons for saying no in law are:

- it would be unsuitable for the age, ability and aptitude or SEN of the child or young person, or
- the attendance of the child or young person there would be incompatible with the efficient education of others, or the efficient use of resources.

Do Academies and Free schools have to follow other legislation and guidance issued by the department of education?

Look at the legislation/guidance on the Department for Education (DfE) website, it will say who it covers.

www.gov.uk/government/organisations/department-for-education

Academies must adhere to The Equality Act 2010 and the Exclusion Guidance.

What are Free Schools?

They are a type of Academy and legally they function in the same way as Academies. They are also state funded directly by the government. They can be set up by groups of parents, teachers, charities or faith groups. Free schools do not have to teach the national curriculum but they are inspected by OFSTED.

Will your child be starting or transferring school in September 2018?

We would suggest you read up on the school/colleges, look at their SEN information reports, Ofsted reports, school website, speak with the SENCO (Special Educational Needs Coordinator) and visit the schools/colleges that you feel can meet your child's/ young person's needs.

For children without an EHCP (Education, Health and Care Plan) or Statement of Special Educational Needs

For children/young people with an EHCP/Statement of Special Educational Needs.

The Local Authority (LA) must hold a review (annual review, AR) and amend an EHCP/ Statement in sufficient time prior to a child or young person moving between key phases of education. The review and amendments must be completed by 15th February (March 31st for post 16).

Norfolk County Council will have written to you on the 8th September asking you to choose which school you would like to name, you should have replied to this letter within 15 days of receiving it with your choice of school (although see above regarding annual review).

The LA must then consult with the school that you have chosen but they will speak to other schools if they feel they can also meet your child's needs. The LA must then send you a copy of the EHCP/statement and a notice of amendment, proposing the changes they are going to make –i.e. the name of the school. If you do not agree with this you should contact your EHCP co-ordinator and discuss your concerns with them.

By the 15th February (or 31st March for post 16 places) you must receive your amended final plan, if you still do not agree with the school named you now have the right to appeal to the First Tier Tribunal.
