

The National Professional Qualification in Middle Leadership

An exciting new way to develop leadership. The National Professional Qualification (NPQML) is a course accredited by the National College for Teaching & Leadership (NCTL). Participants will have the option to convert their study to credits towards a Master's degree with Roehampton University (at an additional cost). Our new NPQML course offers the best of both worlds with its online and face to face dimension.

The online course comprehensively cover the 6 new NPQ content areas, using the most up to date theory and research. 14 hours of facilitated learning over 3 two week programmes includes opportunity for reflection, research, discussion and networking, but at a time that is convenient for you. This allows greater flexibility than a traditional course.

The online element is blended and complimented by face to face days with our extremely experienced facilitators. These sessions will include coaching, development sessions and a diagnostic 360 online evaluation as well as programme support.

Who can apply?

You should be a middle leader (or aspiring middle leader) in a school with the responsibility of leading a team, for example:

- a key stage leader
- a curriculum area leader
- a pastoral services leader
- a subject leader
- a head of department

Module 1	Strategy & improvement + Leading with impact
Module 2	Teaching & curriculum excellence + Increasing capability
Module 3	Managing resources & risks + Working in partnership

Assessment

NPQML participants will be assessed on a written account of the school based task which will demonstrate impact at a subject / department / sub team level of no more than 4500 as well as a presentation of the school based project.

Final assessment is within a target period of 21 months and at least within 18 months of starting the course.

COST £795 (FREE for teachers in the opportunity areas)
