

Level 7 Diploma Courses for accredited

Masters Level in SpLD

Add to your skills and knowledge of working with SEN Learners

- Develop your personal CPD with a degree level qualification
- Deepen the knowledge and skills of your colleagues by sharing best practice

“Having these skills ‘in-house’ has made a huge difference to the support we can offer our learners with neurodiverse profiles. Assessment and programmes of effective intervention are making an impact of the progress of pupils with SEN.” Head teacher

The qualification in assessing and teaching learners with SpLD leads to the essential Assessment Practising Certificate (recognised by JCQ & SASC). Essential for undertaking diagnostic assessments.

Our tutors all have knowledge and experience of assessment and teaching dyslexia and co-occurring difficulties. Our CEPP team, consists of Educational Psychologists, specialist teachers, Speech and Language therapists and an Occupational Therapist ensuring that a holistic approach to dyslexia and the difficulties that students encounter is integral to the course.
