The Learning Scientists - Six Strategies for Effective Learning

The Learning Scientists

World leading cognitive psychological scientists interested in research on education. Their main research focus is on the science of learning.

Their Vision is to make scientific research on learning more accessible to students, teachers, and other educators.

They aim to :

- Motivate students to study
- Increase the use of effective study and teaching strategies that are backed by research
- Decrease negative views of testing

Wednesday 9th January 2019

Come and spend a morning looking at the science of learning with three members of the incredible Learning Scientists team. Hear about their six strategies for effective learning and how to utilise these to have an impact in your setting.

Megan Sumeracki, PhD

Cindy Nebel, PhD

Althea Need Kaminske, PhD

Exciting and Rare Opportunity

We are delighted that The Learning Scientists are visiting Norfolk as one of only three stops on their 2019 UK visit. Opportunities to hear them talk about their work and strategies in person are not easy to come by.

Megan, Cindy and Althea will demonstrate the strategies and provide support in how they can be implemented. The Six Strategies for Effective Learning that will be covered are:

- Spaced Practice
- Dual Coding
- Interleaving
- Concrete Examples
- Elaboration
- Retrieval Practice

Lunch and an opportunity to network and discuss the morning's session will be provided at the end of the session
