

Introduction to Primary Subject Leadership – foundation subjects

Looking to ensure your provision in foundation subjects is rich, broad and of high-quality? Then effective subject leadership is crucial.

Course Outline

High quality subject leadership is essential to school improvement and must focus on the key areas that make a difference. This professional development opportunity will equip foundation subject leaders with the knowledge and tools to lead their subjects effectively.

In line with consistent messages from Ofsted around curriculum and the characteristics of good leadership, this session focuses on how to secure the best outcomes for pupils. Delegates will explore how to write effective action plans, monitor and evaluate provision (curriculum impact), ensure classroom learning is meaningful, exciting and challenging (curriculum implementation) as well as thoughtfully mapped out across the school (curriculum intent).

By the end of the course participants will have a clear understanding of subject leadership requirements regarding:

- Ensuring the quality of teaching and learning for their subject through monitoring, evaluating and challenging practice to deliver BEST outcomes.
- Using data effectively to support their curriculum offer, delivery of their subjects and helping teachers to match expertise with pupil need.
- Developing a curriculum map – underpinned by the best pupil outcomes that match closest with school accountability measures.
