

Early Reading Comprehension

Need to balance word reading with comprehension? Understand what is needed to make meaning from print and equip yourself with practical strategies to develop reading comprehension in KS1.

Course Outline

Striking a balance between decoding and comprehension can be challenging for KS1 practitioners. This session will get to grips with what is needed to be able to successfully make meaning from texts and equip you with the knowledge and understanding to teach reading comprehension effectively. You will leave with a host of teaching inspiration, ideas and strategies to apply immediately back in class and share with colleagues.

By the end of the course participants will:-

- Understanding the key knowledge and skills needed for successful reading comprehension, including inference
- Knowing how this is reflected in the national curriculum objectives
- With practical teaching ideas and strategies to use back in class
- Confident you are making the most of key teaching 'slots' such as shared, whole class and guided reading.
