

Leading Learning

Work alongside fellow Leaders of Teaching and Learning, to evaluate and improve your school's Teacher Professional Development.

What is it?

We know that improving the quality of teaching in the classroom has the biggest impact on improving student outcomes. To do this, at a time of scarce resources, we need to improve the quality of our Teacher Professional Development (PD).

This innovative programme, developed by the Norwich Research School and the Research Schools Network, provides a comprehensive overview of the most important research evidence in education, including the EEF Toolkit, with a focus on how to address the challenges presented by Curriculum reforms.

Outcomes of the programme

- Develop your own understanding of research evidence relating to PD, Implementation and Evaluation.
- Devise an evidence-informed, high impact PD programme for your schools.
- Reduce barriers to successful implementation using our wealth of resources and tool.

Who should take part?

The programme is aimed at current and aspiring senior leaders with a responsibility for Teaching and Learning and / or PD. Its content is also relevant to Headteachers, NLEs and SLEs.
