

Statutory Sorted! – Secondary

Is your school ready for the new statutory RSHE requirements?

Course Outline

The new guidance has greatest implication for secondary schools.

Now is the time to ensure your school is ready to implement the new guidance. High quality, inclusive and relevant RSHE can have a positive impact on pupil health and wellbeing, safeguarding and wider school statutory responsibilities. Attend this course and make sure your school is compliant with the requirements of the new guidance and delivering best practice RSHE.

Attendees will leave this course with a whole-school approach action plan to coordinate their RSHE actions, ensuring readiness for the new statutory requirements.

Outcomes

- Understand key requirements of the new RSHE guidance for secondary schools, including legal duties and curriculum content.
- Know how to develop a strategic framework for RSHE within your school.
- Identify high quality, effective RSHE teaching, learning and assessment.
- Take a whole-school approach to embedding an effective RSHE curriculum, that meets the bespoke needs of your school.
