AUTISM EDUCATION TRUST MAKING SENSE OF AUTISM

Autism Education Trust

Making Sense Of Autism

Outline

Basic autism awareness training for all staff within school-age education setting, mainstream and specialist services. This includes teachers, teaching assistants, transport staff, lunchtime staff, senior management, governors and service staff such as administrators.

Description

'Making Sense of Autism' training is part of an evidence-based national training programme, which is endorsed by the DfE.

'Making Sense of Autism' is one of a suite of training modules developed by the Autism Education Trust (AET), see <https://www.autismeducationtrust.org.uk/training-programme> and delivered to education settings in Norfolk through the Educational Psychology and Specialist Support AET training Hub.

The Autism Education Trust believes that all pupils with autism should receive an education which enables them to reach their full potential to engage in society as active citizens and that individuals, families and professionals are informed, supported and equipped to enable this to be achieved.

Outcome

All participants will be able to:

- Identify the four key areas of difference that need to be taken into account.
- Know the importance of understanding the individual pupil and their profile of strengths and areas for development.
- Identify the key areas to help pupils on the autism spectrum build positive relationships with staff, peers, families and people in their community.
- Develop an awareness of the sensory and communication differences that pupils may experience.

Audience

Teachers, teaching assistants, transport staff, lunchtime staff, service staff such as administrators, senior management and any other practitioner in mainstream and/or specialist settings
