

A new 'Introduction to exploitation for frontline workers' training module has been developed by the Pathfinder Project, in partnership with NSAB, NSCP and NCCSP. The module helps those working with children or vulnerable adults understand risks of exploitation, and what your role is in protecting those at risk. This partnership approach will create a shared foundation for services to collaborate more effectively and prevent exploitation taking place. It will help you prepare for handling exploitation concerns, think carefully about the language and terminology used and give you confidence to be more vigilant with those you work with.

Find and complete the new Introduction to Exploitation training module and share it with your teams and colleagues

Full link: <https://www.norfolkscb.org/e-learning/introduction-to-exploitation-for-front-line-workers/index.html#/>

INTRODUCTION TO EXPLOITATION: FRONTLINE WORKERS

New online training covering:

- exploitation of children and adults
- vulnerabilities leading to exploitation
- language and terminology
- spotting the signs of exploitation

