

Developing an Effective Partnership with Parents

This one-day course is designed to enable heads and deputy heads to evaluate their own school/parent partnership, to decide on areas for development and to explore a variety of practical ideas in further improving partnership working. It will be of special interest to those schools which experience a degree of difficulty in engaging some of the 'harder to reach' parents.

The course objectives are to:

- use evidence from the school self review and a newly designed audit tool, to evaluate the school/parent partnership
- determine areas for development in partnership with parents
- examine ways to develop parental involvement, including learning about services offered by other organisations.

Please bring along Section 6 of the recent SSR.
