

Arts in Education

Autumn 2002

Opportunities for Secondary Schools

■ Free DJ Workshops! Norwich Arts Centre is once again offering to bring to secondary schools free one-hour DJ workshops. Extremely popular last term, so book early! Eight places available. Contact Pam Reekie at Norwich Arts Centre 01603 660352

■ Drama Workshop in Partnership with UEA! Grassroots, a Zimbabwean Theatre for Development Group who deal with such issues as racism, cultural diversity and HIV/AIDS, will be touring Norfolk Schools this autumn. To augment this tour, we are offering secondary school pupils the opportunity to attend a workshop with Grassroots and the University's MA Theatre for Development staff. There are 40 places available. Workshop takes place on Tuesday 1st October, 2-5pm at the UEA Drama Studio. For further information and bookings contact: Anna McCarthy, Arts in Education Partnership Co-ordinator, 01603 433276 email: anna.mccarthy.edu@norfolk.gov.uk

■ The fabulous Ainsley Burrows, performance poet from New York City, is available for another tour of Norfolk Schools this autumn. "I thought Ainsley Burrows' performance was excellent. He read lots of fantastic poems – every single person was glued, listening and watching him perform. He inspired us to want to write our own poems" Chantelle Prior, North Walsham High School. Following rave reviews for his summer performances, Ainsley is offering both performances and workshops from mid-September to the end of October. For further information and bookings, contact Anna McCarthy, Arts in Education Partnership Co-ordinator, 01603 473871 email: anna.mccarthy.edu@norfolk.gov.uk

