

Better Libraries - Raising Standards

A half-day course examining the ways schools who have taken part in our Better Libraries Project in Norfolk have used their libraries to play a part in helping raise children's achievement in reading and writing.

Aimed at senior management who are considering revamping/improving their library in order to help establish and maintain a reading culture in their school

Highlights of the course include:

- ☺ an outline of the SLS "Better Libraries" initiative.
- ☺ maintaining the profile of the "new" library.
- ☺ increasing staff awareness of the value of the library as a teaching and learning support.
- ☺ "stitching in" pupils use of the library into the school's curriculum plan.
- ☺ identifying success factors where reading and writing standards have been raised after the Better Libraries project.
