

Norfolk 2057

Your Home: Your Future

The EDP Short Story Competition

In association with Norwich, City of Refuge and Jarrold the Store

New Writing
Partnership

A thousand or so years ago, there was no Norwich.
A few hundred years ago, half the population of the city spoke French, not English.

WHAT DOES THE FUTURE HOLD FOR YOUR HOME?

Norfolk and Norwich are changing all the time. From the landscape to the people who live here, what will the future look like in your county, your city, your school or your street?

We're asking young people from across the county to come up with stories set in Norfolk 2057. The best stories will be published in the EDP and there are prizes galore!

Will the Norfolk of 2057 be an exciting place to live? How will new technologies change our lives? Will there still be schools or will we all work from home?

If the sea rises, will the people of Norfolk have to seek refuge in other places, or build houses on stilts perhaps? Will we have to build a new world or travel to other worlds? If so, what will the welcome there be like?

Send us your most imaginative, funniest or scariest stories and you could be in line for a prize or perhaps publication in the EDP! The best overall story will be printed in the EDP in November and all the entries will be published on the Norwich, Portrait of a Nation web site.

There are three categories in this competition:

- Under 10 years old ► 11 – 14 year olds ► 15 – 18 years old

The winner in each category will win £100 gift tokens for Jarrolds the Store and the runner up in each category will receive £25 gift tokens. The best overall story will be printed in the EDP during early November.

Send two copies of your story, printed out with your name, address and contact details on the top in an envelope marked 'EDP Short Story Competition' to the following address:

EDP Short Story Competition, Eastern Daily Press,
Prospect House, Rouen Road, Norwich NR1 1RE

Stories must arrive no later than Monday 29th October
