

Dear Head Teacher,

Several of you have told me it would help you to have early information about Tiebreak Theatre's next show for Norfolk schools, to help you with potential fundraising for our visit. I'm very proud to be able to send you the information below about Mouse and Mole, available to book from September 2005 for the spring term 2006. The cost of a single performance of Mouse and Mole at your school will be £285 + VAT, with discounts available for multiple bookings. There's no need to book now - I will send out booking forms in early September - but feel free to contact me if you'd like further information.

I do hope Mouse and Mole is of interest to you,
All the best,

MOUSE AND MOLE

by Joyce Dunbar
Adapted by David Farmer
Directed by Dianne Hancock

for Year Groups 1 and 2

A new production for Spring 2006

"Characters that stand alongside the greats of children's literature"
- Sunday Telegraph

Available to book from September 2005, Mouse and Mole is the theatrical premiere of the popular stories by Joyce Dunbar. And television series featuring Alan Bennett and Richard Briers), this adaptation will be accompanied by a resource pack for teachers with exercises linked to Key Stage 1 of the National Curriculum.

Mouse and Mole are two charming characters, skillfully brought to life by talented actors with puppets, songs and live music. Tiebreak's new Artistic Director, Dianne Hancock, directs this 45 minute show, which gently explores the joys and problems of friendships. Poignant, lyrical and bursting with humour, Mouse and Mole is a special treat for young audiences Joyce Dunbar has written over 60 books for children and is winner of the Guardian Children's Book of the Year award. She lives and works in the centre of Norwich. She is a great fan of Tiebreak Theatre and is looking forward to this first theatrical adaptation of Mouse and Mole.
