This twilight course is designed to:

- help practitioners and headteachers who would like to use the electronic version of the Foundation Stage Profile known as e-profile
- view the powerful potential of using the e-profile through the year to measure pupil progress
- see the range of data and information that may be used for school improvement
- view the reports that it can produce.

Mark Alexander from the Management Information Centre will be present to talk through how school systems will enable easy transfer of information into, and from, the e-profile. You will also have the opportunity to talk to an early years practitioner who already uses e-profile.
