Making the Most of Your Museum

Norfolk Museums and Archaeology Service education officers will show how the Foundation Stage curriculum can be supported with resources and experiences in an imaginative, inspiring and relevant way at their different sites around the county.

Similar courses in 2003/2004 looked specifically at how the Norfolk Museums and Archaeology Service could support the 'Sense of Time' and 'Sense of Place' aspects of learning in the area of 'Knowledge and Understanding of the World'.

The courses this year will look at different activities and how these first-hand experiences can be used to support learning outcomes in aspects of learning across all six areas of learning in the Foundation Stage curriculum.

There will be opportunities to develop and share plans related to the activities.

Please bring along your QCA Curriculum Guidance for Foundation Stage folder and Planning for Learning in the Foundation Stage Supplement.

IMPORTANT CHANGE: NO CHARGE for this course - funded by Government money for the Foundation Stage. However, ALL practitioners in maintained and non-maintained school/settings will be responsible for their own travel and supply costs.
