

Free Masters Course for Norfolk Teachers

Norfolk Children's Services are creating a unique opportunity for two teachers to achieve a Masters of Arts by Research, over two years, accredited by UEA. Successful candidates will be focusing their research on the evaluation of the Learning Platform Programme in Norfolk Primary schools and submit a research thesis (maximum 40,000 words) as part of their studies.

University fees for the MA research programme will be fully covered by Norfolk Children's Services. In addition to the academic supervision provided by UEA, candidates will also be able to receive information and support from the e-learning team.

To apply for this opportunity, please contact Robin Braysher in the Faculty of Social Sciences Admissions Office. The programme will start on October 1st 2008 and applications will need to be submitted to UEA by July 18th 2008.
