

FREE LEARNING FOR SUSTAINABILITY SURGERIES

Are you interested in developing environmental work, Forest Schools, Eco-Schools, the outdoor classroom, off-site visits or your school grounds? If so, you may wish to book in for a 'Learning for Sustainability' surgery at the Professional Development Centre in Woodside Road, Norwich for advice and support. These surgeries will be held by Nell Seal who co-ordinates the Broad Futures Project, which aims to support teachers with Learning for Sustainability, using the Broads as a context. Nell can offer ideas for activities, signposting to existing resources, support with the Eco-Schools process and advice about facilitating self-led or provider-led off-site visits. These subsidised sessions can be offered to you because of funding from the Broads Authority Sustainable Development Fund and EADEN's 'Enabling Effective Support for the Global Dimension in Education', a DfID initiative. The upcoming surgeries will be held on:

Thursday 30th March 2006

Monday 24th April 2006

Monday 3rd July 2006

To book your 1 hour one-to-one session with Nell, please call Joy Lambert on 01553 774023 or e-mail joy.lambert@norfolk.gov.uk
