Dear Colleagues/Visitors,

A warm welcome to the Norwich Sport Village for the Norfolk County Council Psychological Service Annual SEN Exhibition and Conference.

Since its launch eight years ago, this Norfolk event has established itself as the premier Conference and Exhibition on Special Needs in the eastern region. This year, the event promises to be another resounding success.

We very much hope you will find the day stimulating, informative and enjoyable. The range and breadth of resources will be the largest to date and with the diverse programme of speakers, there really is something for everyone. This year, topics range from Aspergers, Dyslexia, Dyspraxia and ADHD, to language difficulties, behavioural interventions and ICT, to name but a few. As usual, 'Come Along' sessions will be running alongside the Main Seminar programme, so do take a look and drop in if you have the time!

We are again pleased to welcome representatives from many Norfolk Professional Services and Voluntary Organisations. This is an ideal opportunity for you to meet with them and find out more about their role. This year, we are also delighted to welcome artists in education, who will be able to tell you about their work in schools.

I wish you a busy and productive day. Thank you for the tremendous feedback following last year and once again, have a great time.

Yours sincerely,

James Thatcher
Principal Educational Psychologist

Baobab Theatre*90

Baobab Theatre has drawn from its experience of creating puppet shows and running workshops.

We have found our interest in discarded materials and objects found in Nature to stimulate children's observation and imagination.

People are too trusting that the imaginative, creative and metaphorical part of the child will take care of itself. We believe it will atrophy too young if not stimulated.

Our shows and workshops aim to confirm to children the relevance and importance of their playful improvisations.

We hope to inspire them to find their own stories in the objects around them.

Our presentation will include a demonstration of making a puppet from found materials.

Dyspraxia Foundation West Norfolk 13

Dyspraxia is thought to be an impairment or underdevelopment of the neural pathways in the brain, causing poor balance, co-ordination, memory, speech and muscle control.

Carol McGinn formed the Dyspraxia Foundation West Norfolk Local Support Group and was later joined by Carol Hawkins. Together, they run the West Norfolk Club for children with Dyspraxia, promoting development in daily living and social skills, balance and co-ordination through drama, dance, ball games and the running of their own tuck-shop.

Epar is a unique software package designed to cater for the very demanding needs of Special Schools.

Our unique IEP system has been written to show the progress being made by even the most severely challenged pupils. The software also radically reduces the amount of time taken to produce annual statements of review.

As Epar is a networked system, every teacher can add his or her own comments from the classroom and admin staff use Epar to instantly collate the review. The software can also be used to track behaviour, record serious (restrained) incidents, create lesson plans and much more.

Facing the World
An Art and Citizenship Project*109

This project used the Sainsbury Centre Collection of World Art to explore cultural diversity through portraits and facial images

Year 6 pupils from Thomas Bullock Primary School, with the support of their class-teacher, Angela Phelps, investigated the wide range of ways in which the face is portrayed across the world. The school worked with artist Jessica Perry and Head of Education at the Sainsbury Centre, Dr Veronica Sekules.

The project was funded by the Clore Duffield Foundation as part of the Artworks Scheme to encourage and inspire children to encounter and engage with art as both 'viewers' and 'makers'.

Norfolk Parent Partnership 12

Norfolk Parent Partnership provides information and support for parents and carers of children with special educational needs.

Parents can be helped and supported by:

- Offering a confidential listening service for parents to discuss concerns about their child's special educational needs;
- Providing user-friendly information;
- Informing parents about voluntary or statutory organisation that can further help;
- A volunteer Independent Parental Supporter.

Parent Partnership has a team of volunteers who can support parents in many ways, including help with paperwork, meetings in school or with Statutory Assessment and Statements. The Parent Partnership newsletter is produced each term and is available on our website, in schools and libraries. A Parent Information Pack is also available by contacting us.

Lorraine Theobald is a dance specialist and has taught in over 350 schools throughout the East of England, including special needs.

These workshops, regardless of ability, enable the participants to connect directly with other cultures normally beyond our everyday reach. They are educational, inspirational, holistic in approach and suitable for all ages and gender.

As well as introduction to the dance of Egypt, Africa, India, Greece, Native America, Aboriginal, Mexico (Aztec), the pupils have hands-on experience with many instruments.

If you would like this guide in large print, audio, Braille, alternative format or in a different language, please contact Irene Hoare on 01603 458191 and we will do our best to help.

If you have any queries or comments about the Conference and Exhibition, please contact one of the Special Needs Norfolk organisers: Sue Judd, Deidre Porter, Jennie Price & Ian Rix, Norfolk Psychological Service.

Early arrival is recommended if you wish to park at the Norwich Sport Village. Please park in the lower left parking area on entering ASDA from the Drayton High Road (A1067) avoiding the main ASDA parking area (see above plan) as this is reserved for ASDA shoppers. Many thanks to Sweetbriar Retail Park, B & Q Warehouse and ASDA for permitting free parking for this event.
