

New Landscapes for Learning

Spring Term Conference and Learning Workshops

Thinking through Reading

9 February 2007 9.30am-3.30pm

Top of the Terrace, Norwich City Football Club

A conference for Norfolk Teachers led by:

Angela Hobsbaum and Nikki Gamble

Reading is a gateway to learning. It stimulates thinking and the imagination.

In this conference, Angela Hobsbaum and Nikki Gamble will explore children's deepening appreciation of reading as a collaborative, exploratory, open-ended, speculative, dialogic process.

Angela Hobsbaum is a research tutor at the London Institute of Education and has worked as a National Coordinator for the Reading Recovery Network. She has carried out research on early literacy interventions and is the author of several publications about guided reading.

Nikki Gamble is a tutor on the Advanced Diploma in Language, Literature and Literacy at the University of Cambridge, and director, Write Away consultancy (www.writeaway.org.uk).

The conference is followed by a half-day learning workshop at either:

Norwich PDC: 22 March 2007, 1.30-4.00

West Norfolk PDC: 14 March 2007, 1.30-4.00

To reserve your place at the conference and workshop please contact Elizabeth Philpot at Norwich Professional Development Centre, 01603 433276 Ext 148, or email elizabeth.philpot@norfolk.gov.uk by Friday 2nd February 2007.

Roger Eagle and Chris Hemmings – Project Directors

