HINDUISM MADE CLEAR

For many busy teachers, the prospect of teaching Hinduism in addition to numerous other religions can be quite daunting. Access to Hindu culture is often not easy for westerners to achieve. Pronunciation of languages associated with Hinduism is also quite a challenge for many of us. And Hinduism is full of concepts, such as the idea of many gods, which are frequently difficult for western people to grasp.

Krishna Avesha is a practicing Hindu who specializes in working with schools to educate children on Hinduism. Here's some information about the presentations she can offer at your school:

PRESENTATION CONTENT

Presentations include a balance of discussion and hands-on activities. Students get a taste of various aspects of Hindu culture and philosophy through activities that may include story telling, a re-creation of a Hindu religious ceremony such as a temple arati ceremony or wedding, dressing up in traditional Hindu costume, playing Indian musical instruments, sampling Indian food, and inspecting a variety of artefacts.

INDIVIDUALIZED PLANNING

Krishna will consult with you to plan a programme that meets the needs of your students and supports your curriculum. She serves primary, secondary and special needs groups.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Born in England, Krishna has been a serious student and practitioner of Hinduism since her conversion in 1973 at the age of 15. In addition to practicing at home near the famous British Hindu centre, Bhaktivedanta Manor in Hertfordshire, she has undertaken several lengthy pilgrimages to India and been immersed in traditional Hindu culture. She is knowledgeable of several Hindu texts, such as Bhagavad-gita and Shrimad Bhagavatam and holds a Masters degree in education.

Krishna works in conjunction with ISKCON Educational Services, a leading authority on Hinduism Education in the UK.
