Dear Head Teacher

I am contacting you from ITV Productions. ITV are currently making a one-off Christmas special "Phillip Schofield's Ultimate Christmas". The programme will feature moving stories of people of all ages and backgrounds who have been identified as deserving candidates to see their particular dream come true. The programme will be a life-affirming and emotional Christmas television experience, for the viewer as well as for those involved.

One part of the show will be in the style of Michael Barrymore's 'Kids Say The Funniest Things', which will involve Phillip asking a group of children age 5-8 about a variety of subjects, hopefully with unintentional entertaining results.

I was hoping that you would not mind displaying these posters for the attention of your parents, who can apply on their child's behalf.

Please do not hesitate to contact us should you have any queries.

Thanks in advance for your co-operation.
