

Teachers Required for "Teachers TV" Documentary

ITV Anglia are looking for teachers to interview for a documentary for Teachers TV which will be called "Staffroom Confidential".

The tone will be light, amusing and witty.....it's teachers' own views about their working lives and their careers. For example, do you have any anecdotes about the lengths teachers go to to keep their kids engaged in the subject? Do children make the toughest critics? Has marking taken over your life? Is the Ofsted Inspection truly a Judgement Day? Any stories about the annual school trip or the Christmas show?

We are looking for a mix of interviewees: teachers who come from primary and secondary education (we are particularly interested in talking to primary teachers), and teachers with a range of experience and subjects.

The interviews will be on camera, very informal, and take place in Norwich, probably at Anglia Television. They will not be recorded live so we can stop and start as many times as you like.
