

ZooLab Week @ Ipswich Museum

Tuesday 25th – Saturday 29th March

Wake up from a winter of hibernation this spring and discover an array of living exotic animals at Ipswich Museum. In this unique and fun event you can have your chance to get closer to a range of animals, reptiles and insects in encounters that will be great for all the family.

Throughout the week Ipswich Museum is delighted to welcome the fabulous and exciting ZooLab. A friendly ZooLab ranger will be at the museum for five days, giving you the opportunity to learn more about some amazing creatures.

The hands-on presentations will teach you all you ever wanted to know about the animals on display and will be great for all kinds of tastes, whether budding zoologists, animal enthusiasts or just those wanting to dispel some of the myths and rumours about some of the worlds most beautiful species.

The creatures on show throughout ZooLab Week will range from the cute and fluffy to the creepy crawly. Will you be brave enough to approach a corn snake, do you want to know more about scorpions or will you want to find out why hissing cockroaches hiss? All this and more including a tarantula, a giant African land snail, a giant millipede, stick insects, a tortoise, a tree frog and a toad!

Of course if the cute and fluffy is more to your taste then you can dispel some of those myths about rats, learn more about gerbils, stroke a rabbit and find out all you wanted to know about guinea pigs! Come along for a cuddle!

With so much to see and learn about you won't want to miss this! Come along and have a wild time.
