

Win a FOCUS greenhouse with installation for your school

As subjects such as obesity, healthy eating and exercise move further up the country's agenda, Focus DIY is encouraging children and their teachers to start growing their own food and get gardening.

Five schools have the chance to win a FOCUS 8 ft by 6 ft aluminium greenhouse with installation and be visited by Ian Powell, former head gardener at Windsor Castle and Kew Gardens. Ian will explain how to produce healthy and sustainable food that can contribute to a balanced diet.

By growing their own vegetables in the FOCUS greenhouse and learning about nutrition, children can get excited about healthy eating and make sensible and informed decisions about the food that they eat now and in the future.

Each prize package is worth £700 and includes:

- 8 x 6ft FOCUS greenhouse with toughened glass and rust proof aluminium frame
- Delivery and installation
- 2 visits from Ian Powell, former head gardener at Windsor Castle and Kew Gardens (initial visit to provide advice on what to plant and how to care for produce and a follow-up visit six months later)

Other schools looking for a greenhouse can purchase one from Focus DIY with a 10% discount. This offer is available to all schools and does not include free installation. Simply cut out this voucher and present at checkout.

To win:

Simply email greenhousecomp@focusdiy.co.uk and tell us why you think your school deserves to get growing with a Focus DIY greenhouse.

FOCUS
diy & gardening

"Gardening is an activity that every child can participate in to make a positive difference to their health. You don't have to be the fastest runner or the best football player to enjoy it. It also diverts the mind from stress, meaning children will be healthy and happy inside and out,"
Ian Powell.
