

Summer Term Twilight Training Session
Costessey High School,
Middleton Crescent, Costessey, Norwich, NR5 0TA
6th. May - 2008 4 – 6pm

The Royal Horticultural Society, the UK's leading gardening charity aims to get 80% of UK Primary Schools providing hands-on learning opportunities of growing plants and gardening by 2012.

To support all schools, the RHS has launched its Campaign for School Gardening, a free membership scheme for schools. There is a website www.rhs.org.uk/schoolgardening and a Regional School Gardening Adviser in the East of England, Alison Findlay.

Is your school interesting in gardening? Teachers, teaching assistants, governors and parents

Come along to this free twilight training session, run by Alison Findlay, and learn more about The Campaign for School Gardening and how your school can get involved:

- Discover the benchmark scheme which gives you access to advice, lesson plans and rewards along the way to developing a school garden
- Understand how to manage and improve your soil
- Learn what you can sow, grow and harvest this summer term
- Have a go at mixing compost, sowing seeds and pricking out seedlings
- Learn simple techniques to make direct sowing and planting fun and easy for children
- Know how to water, weed and maintain your school garden

To book your place, fill out the reply slip below or e-mail me, Alison Findlay at schoolgardeningeast@rhs.org.uk

Name of school:

Contact details:

Book places at Costessey High School 6th May 4 -6 pm

Return to: Millcroft, Wattisfield Road, Walsham Le Willows, Suffolk IP31 3BD