This unique course will help teachers meet the challenges of delivering Education for Diversity and Global Awareness through Geography and History with examples of innovative classroom practice from EYFS to KS2.

You will be sent on investigative trails, you will make a 'paradise' island and you will learn about events & people you have not met before. There will be examples of kinaesthetic learning, boy-friendly activities, higher order thinking skills and cross-curricular learning. You will see examples of:

Developing Global Awareness - Including:

An Early Years Foundation Stage outdoor learning project, based on the Caribbean and adaptable for use with older children.

A Case Study of how one school developed meaningful international links with another school in Uganda.

Understanding Diversity in your local area— Including:

The impact of migration, movement & settlement featuring a Key Stage 2 project that uses local history to explore migration from the Caribbean after the Second World War.

Active Learning ideas for teaching Black History—Including

Active Learning ideas for exploring significant historical figures.

A Key Stage 2 Case Study of how one school delivered a number of cross-curricular themes through the amazing story of Olaudah Equiano.
